NBC HIGHLIGHTS (Primetime):

- Figure Skating – Men's Figure Skating begins with the short program, as 18-year-old Salt Lake City native Nathan Chen looks to confirm his status as a gold medal contender against a deep international field.
- Snowboarding – With an eye on redemption, in Snowboarding, is Team USA's Lindsey Jacobellis, who memorably fell short of gold in snowboard cross at the 2006 Games.
- Skeleton – The final runs of men's Skeleton feature reigning world champ Martins Dukurs of Latvia and South Korea's own Yun Sung-Bin, with Americans Matt Antoine (2014 bronze) and John Daly lead the Americans. Daly returns after heartbreak in Sochi, where he dropped from contention when his sled came out of the groove.
- Freestyle Skiing – Jessie Diggins leads a strong U.S. contingent in the Cross-Country women's 10km freestyle, and the Freestyle Skiing women's aerials event kicks off with qualifying-round jumps.
- Cross-Country Skiing – The U.S. enters PyeongChang seeking its first Olympic medal in a women's Cross-Country event, and a Jessie Diggins-led contingent could achieve that breakthrough in the 10km freestyle. Contenders also include Norwegian star Marit Bjorgen, who continues her quest to become to the most decorated Winter Olympian of all time.

NBC HIGHLIGHTS (Daytime):

- Cross-Country Skiing – The U.S. enters PyeongChang seeking its first Olympic medal in a women's Cross-Country event, and a Jessie Diggins-led contingent could achieve that breakthrough in the 10km freestyle. ### NBC HIGHLIGHTS (Primetime):

- Alpine Skiing – Speed queen Lindsey Vonn, 33, seeks a second downhill gold eight years after a victory in Vancouver; any medal would make her the oldest woman in Alpine skiing history to climb an Olympic podium.
- Figure Skating – Figure Skating continues with the ladies' short program. Team USA is represented by upstart Bradie Tennell, fresh off a victory at the 2018 U.S. Championships; 2010 Olympian Mirai Nagasu; and 18-year-old Karen Chen, who placed fourth at last year's World Championships. Yevgenia Medvedeva, competing as an Olympic Athlete(s) from Russia, is the gold-medal favorite.
- Bobsled – American Elana Meyers Taylor begins her quest to upgrade her women's Bobsled silver medal from Sochi.
- Snowboarding – Canadian teammates Mark McMorris and Max Parrot headline the field as the Snowboarding men's big air event gets underway.

NBC HIGHLIGHTS (Daytime):

- Biathlon – The second Olympic staging of Biathlon's mixed relay event, won by Norway in 2014.

- Nordic Combined – After winning all four available gold medals at last year’s World Championships, Germany looks to extend its Nordic Combined reign onto Olympic snow. Johannes Rydzek and Eric Frenzel are top contenders in the men’s individual large hill event, with brothers Bryan and Taylor Fletcher representing Team USA.

NBC HIGHLIGHTS (Primetime Plus):

- Freestyle Skiing – In the high-flying drama of Freestyle’s ski cross event, Jean-Frederic Chapuis is again a threat for France after leading his nation to a sweep of the Sochi medals.
- Short Track – Short Track coverage includes host South Korea’s quest for a sixth Olympic gold in the women’s 3000m relay, plus qualifying rounds of the women’s 1000m and men’s 500m; the latter features a U.S. trio of first-time Olympians.

NBCSN HIGHLIGHTS:

- Hockey – Two men’s Hockey playoff games to determine who advances to the quarterfinals (teams TBD).
- Curling – Team USA takes on South Korea in round-robin women’s Curling action. Women’s Curling round-robin continues as Team USA takes on host South Korea. NBC HIGHLIGHTS (Primetime):

- Alpine Skiing – Austria's Marcel Hirscher has the credentials of an all-time great Alpine skier despite lacking Olympic gold, but he's favored to capture his first in the men's slalom (run 1 of 2).
- Freestyle Skiing – Freestyle Skiing coverage includes the men's halfpipe final, where defending Olympic champion David Wise leads a talented U.S. contingent.

- Bobsled – The women’s Bobsled podium in PyeongChang could feature the same pilots as in Sochi – Team USA’s Elana Meyers Taylor (silver) and Jamie Greubel Poser (bronze), plus Meyers Taylor’s best friend, training mate and two-time defending Olympic gold medalist Kaillie Humphries of Canada.
- Cross-Country Skiing – Another void could be filled as Jessie Diggins and Co. enter the team sprint, seeking Team USA’s first Olympic medal in a women’s Cross-Country event.

NBC HIGHLIGHTS (Daytime):

- Speed Skating – Team pursuit finals offer the powerful Dutch a shot at two Speed Skating gold medals. Japan is the favorite in the women’s event, while New Zealand, with just one Winter Olympic medal entering PyeongChang, has podium potential in the men’s.
- Cross-Country Skiing –In Cross-Country, a U.S. line-up featuring several strong and experienced freestyle sprinters has dark-horse potential in the men’s team sprint event.

NBC HIGHLIGHTS (Primetime Plus):

- Alpine Skiing – In run 2 of the men’s slalom, Austrian Marcel Hirscher – already with the credentials of an all-time great Alpine skier – could capture his first Olympic gold and enhance his nation’s already rich legacy in the sport.

NBCSN HIGHLIGHTS:

- Curling – The women’s Curling round-robin phase continues with a match-up between South Korea and the Olympic Athlete(s) from Russia. The U.S. faces Great Britain in men’s Curling as the round-robin phase concludes for both teams. Canada takes on Olympic Athlete(s) from Russia as the women’s Curling round-robin phase concludes for both teams.
- Hockey – The elimination-round in men’s Hockey continues with two quarterfinal games (teams TBD). In the women’s final, four of the five previous women’s Hockey finals contested at the Olympics have matched Team USA against Canada. The rivalry is expected to renew in the PyeongChang final.
- Bobsled – Elana Meyers Taylor races for gold in the final runs of the women’s Bobsled event. Fellow American pilot Jamie Greubel Poser also is a contender, along with two-time defending Olympic gold medalist Kaillie Humphries of Canada.
- Cross-Country Skiing – In Cross-Country, coverage includes semifinal-round action in the men’s and women’s team sprints.
- Speed Skating – Team pursuit finals offer the powerful Dutch a shot at two Speed Skating gold medals. Japan is the favorite in the women’s event, while New Zealand, with just one Winter Olympic medal entering PyeongChang, has podium potential in the men’s.
- Cross-Country – In Cross-Country’s team sprint events, the U.S. men have dark-horse potential while Jessie Diggins and Co. attempt to become the first American women to climb an Olympic podium in the sport.
- Medal Ceremonies – Notable podium celebrations from the Medals Plaza in PyeongChang.

- Figure Skating – Liam McHugh will host Olympic Ice Presented by Toyota, a live, daily figure skating show. He will be joined by co-host Tanith White and analyst Scott Hamilton for in-depth coverage of all things Figure Skating, including a look-ahead to tomorrow’s highly anticipated ladies’ free skate.

USA HIGHLIGHTS:

- Hockey – The women’s Hockey bronze medal final (teams TBD). A men’s Hockey quarterfinal game (teams TBD).
- Curling – On the final day of round-robin action in men’s Curling, Sweden faces Norway.
