2018 Coaches Liability Insurance Program (General Liability/Professional Liability Insurance Coverage)

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS (FAQ'S)

What coverage is provided through this program?

The USA Weightlifting Coaches Liability Insurance Program provides General Liability and Professional Liability insurance coverage to current USA Weightlifting active member certified Level 1 Sport Performance Coaches or higher with respect to coaching, training, counseling, and related activity within the scope of certification by USA Weightlifting.

Why do I need this insurance?

This insurance will protect you from liability arising out of your coaching activities. Anyone providing weightlifting instruction at any level from beginner to advanced, on a paid or volunteer basis, has legal liability. The policy provides General Liability coverage for third party claims alleging bodily injury and property damage arising from your coaching activity. The policy also provides Professional Liability coverage for damages arising out of your errors or omissions with respect to your coaching, training, counseling and related activities.

Does this insurance cover legal fees?

Yes. With respect to covered claims, the insurance company will pay for the cost of defending a lawsuit brought against you seeking damages as a result of your coaching activities, subject to the terms, limits and conditions of the policy. Defense coverage is provided in addition to the limits of liability under the policy.

What are some examples of claims that have been brought against coaches that would be covered by this insurance?

Lawsuits have been brought against coaches alleging bodily injury, disability, wrongful death, loss of income, etc. as a result of improper advice and guidance, inadequate instruction, etc. Even in cases where the athlete/student has not been physically injured, lawsuits have arisen where the athlete (or parent) believes a coach did not provide adequate instruction and thus prevented the athlete from developing into an elite athlete with a professional career.

How do I enroll into the program?

Go to the USA Weightlifting website, and click on the Insurance tab. Download the application, and follow the instructions for submitting the application and payment to USA Weightlifting.

Why is USA Weightlifting offering this insurance?

USA Weightlifting is making this vital coverage available to its active member certified Level 1 Sport Performance Coach or higher as a benefit to certified instructors/coaches who have satisfied all of the eligibility requirements.

When will my coverage expire?

The current insurance program will expire on 12/31/2018.

Does this insurance program cover me during USA Weightlifting sanctioned events?

No. USA Weightlifting has separate insurance programs covering sanctioned events. Coaches are included as insureds under the sanctioned event policies.

Does this policy provide coverage for coaching activity outside of the U.S.A.?

Yes. The policy has been written with a worldwide coverage territory. The "Coverage Territory" is defined as anywhere in the world with the exception of any country or jurisdiction which is subject to trade or other economic sanction or embargo by the United States of America.

Will this policy cover medical expenses incurred by one of my students as a result of an accident/injury?

No. The policy does not cover medical expenses, unless you are found legally liable for the student's injuries.

Do I need to obtain signed waiver & release of liability forms from students in weightlifting lessons or clinics that I teach?

Yes. This is for your protection and benefit. If you do not obtain signed waivers from your students (or from parents/legal guardians in the case of minors), your coverage will be subject to a $10,000 deductible per claim.
