Day 2 Highlights from the ISU's World Cup Heerenveen and Shanghai

Brittany Bowe stands atop the 1000m podium for third-straight ISU World Cup

For the third consecutive ISU World Cup, Brittany Bowe (Ocala, Fla.) stood on the top step of the podium following the 1000m. Her time of 1:14.49 edged out U.S. teammate Heather Bergsma (High Point, N.C.) who finished in 1:15.33 and Marrit Leenstra from The Netherlands who crossed in 1:15.77.

Both ISU World Cups will be available on-demand through icenetwork.

Heerenveen (Long Track) Highlights from Day 1 (Dec. 12)

- Once again, Brittany Bowe and Heather Bergsma finished with the top two times in the women's 1000m...Bowe took the gold in 1:14.49 and Bergsma earned the silver in 1:15.33.
- In four ISU World Cup 1000m races this season, the top-two podium spots have been occupied by Bowe and Bergsma in three of them...also, six of the last eight World Cups.
- In each of the last three World Cup 1000m races, Bowe has stood on the top step of the podium...she has won either gold (six) or silver (three) in each of the last nine 1000m World Cup races.
- Jonathan Garcia won the 1000m B Division in 1:09.67.

Shanghai (Short Track) Highlights from Day 1 (Dec. 12)

- Aaron Tran almost moved into the 1000m World Cup session after advancing out of the first two repchage heats but a third place finish in the semifinals kept him from qualifying.

The ISU World Cup Heerenveen concludes on Sunday with the 500m (2), 1500m and the Mass Start. Racing for the A Division starts at approximately 2 p.m. local time (6 a.m. MT). Skating wraps up in Shanghai, China with the 500m, 1500m (2) and relay finals on Saturday at 2:02 p.m. local time (appx. 11:02 p.m. MT Friday).
